WND WORLD CONGRESS ON GLOBAL DEMOCRACY 2025

INDIA

7th – 10th December 2025

The WND World Congress on Global Democracy is a landmark event designed to bring together leaders, academics, scholars, writers, thinkers, philosophers, activists, researchers and stakeholders from across the world and youth with ignited minds to discuss, advance and promote the principles of democracy at a global scale. The Congress will serve as a platform for dialogue, collaboration and action on how democratic values can be strengthened and integrated into global governance global citizenship and a step towards its establishment on earth.

World Natural Democracy (Darbhanga) and Patna University (Department of Philosophy) are jointly organizing the WND World Congress on Global Democracy 2025 that will be held in India, from 7th to 10th December 2025.

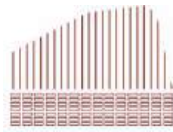

WND WORLD CONGRESS ON GLOBAL DEMOCRACY

7TH - 10TH DECEMBER 2025 INDIA

The first World Congress on Global Democracy in the History of Humanity.

The primary and prospective objectives of the Congress are to:

- Advocating for the importance of democracy as a fundamental human right and discussing strategies to strengthen democratic institutions worldwide.
- Creating a platform for discussion among policymakers, activists, scholars, and citizens to share best practices and innovative ideas in promoting democracy.
- Identify and address the key challenges and obstacles to global democracy, including issues related to planet, governance, Technological advancement, human rights, and international cooperation.
- Encouraging active participation from citizens in democratic processes and exploring ways to improve voter engagement and representation.
- Fostering partnerships among nations, organizations, and communities to support democratic initiatives and share resources.
- Highlighting the importance of research and education in understanding democracy, its challenges, and its evolution in a global context.
- Highlight successful democratic practices and innovations from various countries and regions, providing valuable insights and models for others to follow
- Developing actionable policy recommendations to address current threats to democracy, such as authoritarianism, misinformation, war situation and political polarization.
- Invitation to present various roadmaps for a vision of a democratic world by 2050 and to bring into discussion global democracy for global peace.
- Unequal (man-made) citizenship on earth is a major cause of International war and conflict. The WND World Congress is serious about such a fundamental question.

The first World Congress on Global Democracy in the History of Humanity.

GLOBAL DEMOCRACY –

Global democracy is not merely a theoretical notion; it represents an essential evolution for humanity to attain the peace, prosperity, and security required for future generations. Within the framework of World Natural Democracy (WND), global democracy is seen as the ideal system through which humanity can align itself with the natural laws governing our planet. This vision aims to unify all nations, cultures, and peoples under democratic framework that honors and upholds the principles of equality, justice, and sustainability.

In our increasingly interconnected world, the challenges we confront transcend national borders. Issues such as climate change, Healthcare, Food security, Income inequality, Unequal citizenship, Gender equality, Eradicate extreme poverty and hunger, Concerns about AI capabilities and dehumanization, Lack of access to resources, Lack of employment, huge livelihood problems in young generation, dying childhood, pandemics, nuclear proliferation, and catastrophic environmental degradation are inherently global and necessitate collaborative action. Current political systems, often divided by national interests, frequently struggle to address these urgent problems effectively. Global democracy provides a solution by offering a cohesive platform where nations can collaborate, guided by natural law principles, to address common challenges. This system would prioritize the welfare of the planet and future generations over short-term national or corporate interests.

The bedrock of global democracy is the acceptance of truth, a principle emphasized by the founder of WND: “Acceptance of truth is the end of all insecurities.” This truth involves acknowledging our shared humanity and interdependence on the Earth. In a global democracy, every individual, regardless of nationality, race, or creed, is afforded equal rights and responsibilities. These rights extend beyond political participation to include the right to a clean environment, access to essential resources, and the freedom to live peacefully. Correspondingly, responsibilities include respecting the rights of others and contributing to the common good.

WND WORLD CONGRESS ON GLOBAL DEMOCRACY

7TH - 10TH DECEMBER 2025 INDIA

The first World Congress on Global Democracy in the History of Humanity.

Global democracy, as conceptualized by WND, is fundamentally linked to the laws of nature. Just as nature operates based on principles of balance and equilibrium, human societies should reflect these principles. A global democratic framework would ensure that human activities align with these natural laws, promoting the development of sustainable and equitable policies that guarantee fair resource distribution and environmental protection for future generations. By harmonizing human civilization with natural laws, global democracy aspires to create a world where all forms of life can flourish.

In a global democracy, the notion of citizenship extends beyond national borders to encompass the entire planet. Each individual is recognized as a global citizen, endowed with rights and responsibilities that reflect their connection to the broader human community. Global citizenship cultivates a sense of unity and shared purpose, encouraging individuals to think and act beyond their immediate environments. It nurtures empathy, cooperation, and a commitment to the collective welfare of all Earth's inhabitants. This transition from national to global citizenship is crucial for the success of global democracy.

To realize global democracy by 2050, as envisioned in WND's mission, a collective effort from all sectors of society is imperative. This entails increasing awareness, educating the populace, and fostering a global movement that advocates for change. Political systems must be reformed to prioritize inclusivity, transparency, and accountability. International institutions should be strengthened and restructured to more accurately represent the interests of all nations and peoples. Although this journey will be challenging, it is essential for the survival and flourishing of humanity.

The promise of global democracy is a world where peace, justice, and sustainability are not merely ideals but concrete realities. It envisions a global society where everyone's rights are respected, and every voice is acknowledged. It imagines a reality where human activities are in harmony with the natural environment, ensuring a healthy planet for future generations. Global democracy paves the way for a brighter future, one in which humanity can coexist in peace and prosperity, united by a common dedication to the well-being of all life on Earth.

In summary, global democracy is not solely a political goal but a vital evolution for humanity. It embodies our collective ambition to create a world that is just, sustainable, and peaceful. By embracing global democracy, we can cultivate a future where all individuals, regardless of their backgrounds, can live in harmony with one another and with the natural world.

THEMATIC SECTION FOR CONTRIBUTED PAPER –

The theme of the Congress is global democracy. This is the central theme of this Congress. As you know, we are not looking at global democracy only as a matter of politics of nations, or national-international political debates, but along with this we mean to start discussions on the establishment of global democracy. From this fundamental point of view, global democracy is still a concept in its infancy. In the view of some, it is still in the womb. In the view of some, it has already been born. But it is undeniable that global democracy has a very long way to go to take a real shape.

That is why we are giving a separate thematic section here. It is necessary to link global democracy with all the branches of knowledge and wisdom created by human civilization. Only then will the foundation of a great tradition be laid and its challenges be faced. Global democracy has come into the realm of an ideal, but even its small concept is not established in the real world. But indirectly global democracy is becoming a part of the global society and the academic world. The circumstances arising in the world are indicating us to move forward on this path. When an ideal becomes a necessity, it becomes easier to do it. As we know, circumstances are being created and worsened in the world in favor and against global democracy. This is the struggle of civilization. This struggle will continue and the sun of the future will rise from this struggle. We all should believe in this.

7TH - 10TH DECEMBER 2025 INDIA

The first World Congress on Global Democracy in the History of Humanity.

Here is a list of major areas. You are free to present your views by linking global democracy with all these areas in various ways and forms.

You are free to find democratic values from all religions and traditions of the world. Similarly, it is necessary to look at the grave threat to life on this planet today and the ideology of history by linking it with global democracy.

Here are some challenging keywords, whose impact is directly related to the theme of the Congress; participants can discuss from all these contents in their own way and start writing abstracts and research papers with a beautiful and attractive title of their choice.
